UAS is growing...

Another wave of national recruitment is now underway and we have more than 7800 active panel members so far. UAS' population-representative California state sub-panel has more than 2600 members at this time.

NEW UAS functionality: survey experiment codebook summaries and searchable experiment categories

We have categorized the types of experiments conducted in UAS surveys, and added a search function to allow users to quickly view a list of all experiments of a selected type. Survey experiments are also now documented in survey codebook introductions.

----- New UAS Data Releases -----

In case you missed it: we released our internal files

UAS has released recruitment, behavior, and panel attrition data files. Formally available only to UAS internal analysts, these data are now available to all registered UAS users under the Special Datasets menu tab. This release includes recruitment data, first "my household" (demographic data, updated quarterly), the full "my household" longitudinal data file, survey order, and survey invitations. More info here:

UAS Comprehensive Data File

Latest version release: March 2019

Merged data from HRS and other UAS surveys:
harmonized, cleaned, and ready to download and analyze

- UAS Health and Retirement Study (HRS) items
- cognitive and personality tests
- financial literacy
- subjective well-being
- health
- retirement data
- financial management
- preparation for retirement
- pensions
- marital history and family structure (new!)
- knowledge of Social Security rules
- useful derived variables. (e.g. household total wealth, yearly earnings, self-reported health, etc.)

The UAS Comprehensive File merges data from core surveys in the UAS. We carefully derive variables from these and the UAS Health and Retirement Study (UAS HRS).

Wave 2 is coming: We will begin adding derived variables from UAS HRS Wave 2 in September 2019 starting with the Income and Wealth variables. Also ahead: adding the final Wave 1 derived variables on the topic of Social Security and disability benefits.
